BLOOM NEXT SPRING

Darwin Tulips should be planted this fall. They will bloom next spring and each spring thereafter. Leave them in the ground during the winter; they are perfectly hardy and will grow almost anywhere. For good effects, plant along shrubbery borders or near the house foundation or in beds by themselves. Space the bulbs about six inches apart and plant five to six inches deep. No special care is necessary. They are the most beautiful of all cut flowers. The average home grounds can easily accommodate several hundred bulbs. A planting booklet will be mailed to each customer.

Crocus

FRESH CROCUS BULBS

Everybody knows and loves the cheery Crocuses which brave the winds and frosts of declining winter. No other early flower does more to herald the coming of spring. The color range of our bulbs varies through purest White, Yellow and Purple. For showy display, Crocuses should always be planted in groups or masses. They will grow in many places—in flower beds, in rock gardens, in sun or shade, and under trees. They are especially effective along borders. They will reappear again the following spring in ever greater splendor.
